

LAWSON IRIS GARDENS

1955

MRS. L. B. LAWSON
P. O. Box 314
Valley Center, Calif.

GREETINGS FOR 1955

After a year of moving we are finally settled on our new ranch at Valley Center, California. We are in the mountains of northern San Diego County, nine miles northeast of Escondido, on the road to Mt. Palomar, where the famous observatory is located.

We are on the main road about three-fourths mile past the Valley Center Post Office, and we hope many of our friends will visit us at our new location. You are welcome any time but especially at the main blooming season during April and May.

Our winters are cold enough to assure hardy rhizomes and the warm dry summers will harden them for shipping and transplanting.

We are offering six new iris this year, masterpieces developed by Clarence G. White of oncobred fame, Richard P. Eckles, hybridizer and American Iris Society Judge, the late Lena Lothrop, and Kathryn Lohman of Fallbrook, formerly of Temple City, who after introducing several tall bearded, is now offering her first table iris.

May we take this opportunity to thank our many customers for their splendid orders, and those who have written to us expressing their satisfaction and thanks for the extras. If you have not already done so, won't you send us a trial order and then join our list of satisfied customers?

Sincerely,

FRANCES J. LAWSON

Member: The American Iris Society; The Southern California Iris Society

1955 Introductions

BERTHA LOMBARD (Richard P. Eckles)
ML 29" (China Maid x Tobacco Road)
An appealing and distinctive dark blend for the front of the border. Basically a deep reddish-brown, it is enlivened with a large and brilliant gold patch on the flaring, ruffled falls, blending to russet brown at the tip and lower margins. The blossoms, well spaced and admirably proportioned, are borne on well-branched stalks, and remain crisp and lovely even when the temperature goes unseasonably to 95°. It is an excellent pod parent $10.00

CHANCELLOR (Lena Lothrop) ML 42"
(Esquire x (Iolite x Blue Dusk))

A delightful and impressive dark violet near-self with heavy substance and four-way-and-terminal branching, CHANCELLOR dominates its corner of the garden for over four weeks. The conical, frilled, taffeta-like standards tower over velvety falls which flare to a six-inch diameter. Even finer than SWAGGER in finish and proportions, CHANCELLOR may well be Mrs. Lothrop's masterpiece in the violet-black class. Fertile both ways, we expect it will be indispensable to breeders. $20.00

EDITH JANE (Lena Lothrop) ML 48'
(Wabash x Val)

From amoena parents comes an unexpected color break to produce a tall novelty variegata with a slight infusion of onco ancestry. Conical waved standards of Amber Yellow over flaring dark violet falls, broadly edged in gold, make this a gay and unusual iris. The four-way branching guarantees a long blooming season. No pollen but sets seed—a challenge to hybridizers $15.00

KEWPIE (Kathryne Lohman) EM 18"
(Table Iris)

A dainty mulberry rose self with flaring falls. It is a strong grower and a clump blooms over a long period. The flower has splendid form and texture and this unusual color in the Table Iris class should prove useful in hybridizing $3.00

MAHARAJAH (Clarence G. White) ML 40" (Tobacco Road x (Spring Secretary)
x (Fiesta x Chosen))

Discovering that MAHARAJAH is not only a worthy addition to the "dark blend" class but an even more valuable parent than Tobacco Road, we are releasing it for distribution. Its globular five-inch blossoms sparkle in honey-gold and reddish tawny shades, and its tall, beautifully branched stalks make it a focal point in the garden for a month or longer. It is fertile both ways and the onco influence makes for breadth of parts $20.00

ROBERT ALEXANDER (Lena Lothrop) ML 40"
(Hills of Gold x (Axtec Copper x Jean Cayeux))

A large and impressively ruffled absolute self in Amber Yellow, refined and well proportioned. It has waved, well-closed standards, and broadly rippling falls, flare to a five-inch diameter. The candelabrum-branching, with three blossoms often open at once, will delight the connoisseur. Exquisite when planted with Soraya. $12.50
